"Six Minutes"

Where does the time go when you want it
Always seems the hours are shrunken
When you need the space
An exit from the hurricane Every time the world collides with every little thing you say

Six Minutes later and we're all alone
Six degrees away from everyone
Count the seconds count the hours one by one
Six Minutes later and we're all alone

Feels like a long time coming lately
But I learned something about patience
I can't wait too long
Sitting out this fate for too long
Trying to make some sense of what the hell is going on

Six Minutes later and we're all alone
Six degrees away from everyone
Count the seconds count the hours one by one
Six Minutes later and we're all alone

Walk away from all this Turn away from madness
Try to hold onto the feeling while you can Waking up is easy when you see things clearly
Every second counts so count them very carefully

Six Minutes later and we're all alone
Six degrees away from everyone
Count the seconds count the hours one by one
Six Minutes later and we're all alone
