I used to take you at face value
You spoke, I listened and the only thing missing was the truth
Yeah, promises, promises
Lines as honest as a three dollar bill
You talk the talk
But you don't walk the walk and I've had my fill

Going on like this is so absurd
I'm sick of these words, words, words

You say yes, you say no
You say come, you say go
You change just like the weather
First you're up then you're down
Say you can't hang around
Then you promise me forever
Whatever

Save your breath, I'm tuning you out
Nothing I need to hear gonna plug up my ears
And sing real loud la, la, la, la, la, la
Baby talk if you want, I don't care anymore
I'm past the breaking point
So I'm blowing this joint, yeah, I'm out the door

I used to take it all so personally
Now it sounds the same to me

You say yes, you say no
You say come, you say go
You change just like the weather
First you're up then you're down
Say you can't hang around
Then you promise me forever
Whatever

I used to take it all so personally
Now it sounds the same to me

You say yes, you say no
You say come, you say go

You change just like the weather
First you're up then you're down
Say you can't hang around
Then you promise me forever
Whatever

You say yes, you say no
Whatever
Whatever
You say come, you say go
Whatever
