I never though I'd make it past the milky way
I never thought I'd see a different light of day
All of a sudden the stars are zooming by
Every time I reach I can touch the sky
You came to me
And you broke rules of time
You rearranged the universe
And brought your world to mine
So I could be next to you
I can see my dreams through your kaleidoscope
The sun is shining down a million rays of hope
Everything around around me has been redefined
The core of who I am has finally come alive
