

Candice Alley

"It's In My Head"

Visit "It's In My Head" on MotoLyrics.com

Seems your ways are circling me
Twist and turning what will be
But I'm not afraid
To run away
There's no reason to concede
If no answers come to me
Still I have no choice
But to feel this way

You walk away and leave me wondering
If I understood the things you said

It's in my head
If I misread
All the lines that crease your face
If I misplaced
I'm still wasting too much time on what you said
It's in my head
You're in my head

And you lied so carefully
Seems you're undermining me
There's a missing piece
That I can't see

You walk away and leave me wondering
If I understood the things you said

It's in my head
If I misread
All the lines that crease your face
If I misplaced
I'm still wasting too much time on what you said
It's in my head
You're in my head

Give all of you and I won't forget
The words I thought you said
Are in my head

