Look you in the eye
Give you reasons to stay
Tell me why you have to go
Tell me why you want to run away
And now you're on your own
And nothings going your way
But he's got reasons that she don't
But nothings gonna change
And she tells him but he knows
That nothings gonna change

But I've been waiting for so long to find you
It's you that I need now
But I've been waiting for so long to find you
It's you that I need now

Too much to handle
When everything's going wrong
And everybody has to know
That something's got to change
When there's nothing at all
And you can't stay the same
Don't you want to be someone else
But it's you that you can't change
And all the things that you feel
Seem to slip away

But I've been waiting for so long to find you
It's you that I need now
And I've been waiting for so long to find you
It's you that I need now
And I wonder where we are, inside
Don't you know how I feel tonight
It's you that I need now

Look you in the eye
Give you reasons to stay
So tell me why you have to go
Tell me why you want to run away
