

Jester's March

"Innocence"

Visit "Innocence" on MotoLyrics.com

It's my eyes that tell me to believe again
It's my mind that tells me to give up
'Cos I'll never know what change may come along
But I don't wanna give it up

It's just an eye for an eye
Not worth another try

Losing my innocence
Can't make it stay, it slowly fades away
Losing my innocence
Day by cay, it slowly fades away

Isn't it funny, my dreams still last
It could be so nice, it's not under my control

I feel a fire inside, yet you can't see it on the surface
It heats up my heart and one day I will drown in flames

It's the way I feel, all is black and white
No colour lies between, the contrast blinds my sight

Losing my innocence
Can't make it stay, it slowly fades away
Losing my innocence
Day by cay, it slowly fades away

Isn't it funny, my dreams still last
It could be so nice, it's not under my control

Once I thought, we are good by nature
I'm no longer sure

But it's the doubt that keeps me working
It's the doubt that tells me to go on

Visit Jester's March page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.