Lyrics for The Right Decision

from Jesus Jones, Perverse, 1993

Compromise and confusion tears away . . .

Well they say ignorance is bliss unless something is amiss

How About that?

And the problem with success is you become what you detest

How About that?

How About that?

So who do you believe and who do you trust

well it may as well be you

Cause it seems that no one else has got a clue

Get it wrong get it right

You can try as hard as you like

but thereUs no such thing

in the world as the right decision

ItUs okay to get a smile

just as long as itUs not dumb

How About that?

And two wrongs don't make a right but there's a conflict they just might

How About that?

How About that?

Suspend your trust

Reserve our belief and did all I could do in the hope that I might pick up any clue

Get it wrong get it right

You can try it as hard as you might

but there's no such thing

in the world as the right decision

It's our soul that we protect [?]

Because we may just break our neck

How About that?

And for every question why there's an answer on the sly

If you will look in the eye . . . [?]

Get it wrong get it right

You can try as hard as you like

in the world as the right decision

You can try as hard as you like

in the world as the right decision
