Don't look up too quick
You'll see the sky is falling down on you
And when you run on empty
The ground will wait to swallow you

Running
Running
Running
Run on empty

I have a dream returning every night
The goal is out of reach but still in sight
I'm getting thin but grinning every day
I run on empty too much, it's just my way

Don't look up too quick
You'll see the sky is falling down on you
And when you run on empty
The ground will wait to swallow you

Running
Running
Running
Run on empty

Running
Running
Running
Run on empty

And in all your dreams doesn't it seem
That you're wearing lead boots
Growing tree routes
Caught in quicksand?

I can see ahead the end of the line
This is some kind of meltdown just in time
I see declining empires fade away
The games were getting ugly anyway

So don't look up too quick
You'll see the sky is falling down on you

And when you run on empty
The ground will wait to swallow you

So don't look up too quick
You'll see the sky is falling down on you
And when you run on empty
The ground will wait to swallow you

Running
Running
Running
Run on empty

Running
Running
Running
Run on empty

Running
Running
Run on empty
