colour in the shade of winters tide iÂ´m not waiting
diving diving down nothing left for star gazing tonight now i know youÂ´re diving diving down to the sea faster than the chill that follows me black and white through rust and powdered eyes
nothing to no one always old and always realise that youÂ´re fading nothing to no one youÂ´ll stay waiting for tha rain and all that you knew was divided in two if you run a thousand miles away youÂ´ll never see the day that longed to wait
the night we saturate the stars will never shine again and now foreverÂ´s running to the end to take you back again
