

Jim Ed Brown

"All I Had To Do"

Visit "All I Had To Do" on MotoLyrics.com

Morning comes and spreads tomorrow on my bed so softly I can feel the darkness grow Leaving like the girl who walked across my world and took the only love I'll ever know She was all I wanted but I guess I never told her now she's gone away
If I had a wish my only wish would be that she was coming back to stay All I had to do to hold her was hold her I was always looking out for me and only thought about all the things I had to do All I did was turn away when all she wanted me to say was I love you [ strings ]
Evening starts to spread across my lonely bed so slowly I can feel the darkness grow Shadows bring the gloom that fills my silent room with sounds of someone cryin' low I close my eyes and memorize the softness of her lips on my own

What's the point in being strong or being right or wrong
That point means as being alone All I had to do to hold her was hold her all I had to do to hold her was hold her

Visit Jim Ed Brown page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.