In your eyes I see a sign of sadness on your lips I taste a touch of fear

You can ease my mind with all those pretty words you're saying

It's the worse that you're not saying that I hear

I can tell the time has passed for talking you don't feel that tingle when we touch

I misread your thoughts while you were lying there beside me

And I offered you too little or too much

You won't catch me crying cause it's over tonight is lost and yesterday is past

Truthfully I cannot say I'm sad because it's over

I'm just sad because it couldn't last I'm just sad because it couldn't last
