Oh Mr Sun peekin' through the shade in my room
He says get up gotta rise and shine through my gloom
I better face myself gotta brace myself to go on
The morning after all the laughter has gone
I lived my life waiting for the nightfall to come
Then I got out on a constant search for someone Now I may hold her hand kiss her lips well it'd be fun yeah
The morning after all the laughter has gone
Who's hand was I holding so tight and who's lips was I kissing last night
A single bed where I wake alone every morn
Sometimes I cry and wonder why I was born

I better face myself brace myself to go on
The morning after all the laughter has gone
The morning after all the laughter has gone
