"You Comb Her Hair"

I know that you're wondering who I dream about
And if I've met someone who thrills me so Well I finally met a girl who turns me inside out
I'll tell you about her for you ought to know You comb her hair every morning and make sure she dresses just right
You comb her hair every morning and put her to bed every night

When she's around me sometimes I can hardly speak
I stammer and I walk right into doors
And just to hold her hand in mine makes me feel weak

You know her for she's a friend of yours
You comb her hair every morning...
