1st Verse:

Wake up call it's time to confess all the lies building on your chest but make sure you you don't jump the gun just hold back and bite your tongue

Chorus:

And hey all that talk came way too soon I only wished it wasn't you that built us up just to tear this down you're just messing around (and now one's around) because you threw it away

2nd Verse:

So here you stand in pure nothingness what you once had slipped off your fingertips it only takes some common sense to prevent this at anyone's expense
