1st Verse: With your knife to my back, I hope you don't stab me too fast, I don't think I'm ready for this, kind of commitment to, keeping you satisfied, I'd rather sit still in silence while you, hit the jugular vein

Chorus: And when the room turns black and white, I'll watch the world go flying by, I'll see my life flash before my eyes, and inside, I know that in this long, dark nightmare, we're fasting forward ten times where, the steady hand pulled through, is this killing me as much as it's killing you?

2nd Verse: With your gun to my head, I hope you don't pull the trigger too fast, I don't think I'm ready for this, kind of commitment to, keeping you satisfied, I'd rather sit still in silence while I, dodge the bullets you shoot

Breakdown: You're so good at breaking hearts (8 times)
