I didn't sleep well last night, how about you? - you crazy thing! this bowl of toasteeo's wont pull me through, til pigs have wings, I wish I knew, what's going on, the king is dead, the legend still lives on, why has he been hiding from me for so long?

The truth wont bring me down - unless someone finds out what it is.

On the road to nowhere I have seen some crazy things, messengers of hope toasted and green, what joy it brings, to understand what's going on. the deck is stacked, the lines are light years long, where will I find comfort for me when you're gone?

The truth can't bring me down unless somebody knows what it is.

I keep on dreaming that they're coming for me, and there's nothing down here that can set me free, it all went by so fast I never found my feet there's a whole 'nother world down in the street. of this frail existence, I wish I knew.

You wont believe anything until it happens to you! -warp two.

At the helm they don't know what to do - those crazy beings! - straighten deck chairs on titanic two - and dream of things they understand, they can't back down, if we stay on course the ice will turn around. don my vest cause their running this ship to the ground.

The truth wont bring you down at least until you know what it is.

I keep on dreaming that they're coming for me, and there's nothing down here that can set me free, it went by so fast I never found my feet there's a whole 'nother world down in the street. -of this frail existence, I wish I knew

You wont believe anything until it happens to you! -warp two!

With your finger on the button I'd swear that you know, but it's all that I have left now that I'm standing in the back row, lost that deam that I got in my head, lights out, game over, 'nuff said.
You wont believe anything until it happens to you. - warp two.

The truth can't bring you down....
