what could be more fitting after such a long day get out your tired make your way across the city you sit here waiting you sit deciding in your final debate as you work off all the pain of the day i like this feeling high again
what could be more fitting after such a long day get out your tired another day hot dead city shake off that padding and shed that babyskin a full ride hypnotize now you work off all the pain of the day unlike this feeling never end

for your pain

am i not home just cause we hail not what you say you go leave us to wait the final fall where no two ends are the same right will this be all that you hear will that be all that you deal with now your restless heart is beating still and then the roof caves in
