ring Back the Magic

By: Jimmy Buffett, Will Jennings

1988

Inspired by a Noel Rockmore painting entitled "Ride of the Beachcombers". I bought the painting and sat with it for a morning in New Orleans and let it and the town talk to me.

Chorus:

Nothing can tear you apart

If you keep livin' straight from the heart

Though you know that you're gonna to hurt some

The magic will come

If you keep livin' straight from the heart

You will know when to stop and to start

Once you see that no one really wins

Then the magic begins

Bring back the magic

Don't make life so tragic

Bring back the magic

Don't make life so tragic

Beachcombers ride

Oh children lost in the tide

Time's never at their command

Waves melt all castles of sand

Melt all castles of sand

Bring back the magic

Don't make life so tragic

Bring back the magic

Don't make life so tragic

Red sky at night

Oh, such a sailor's delight

Red sky at dawn

Oh-oh-oh, gypsy song's comin' on

Gypsy song's comin' on, song's comin' on

Chorus:

Nothing can tear you apart

If you keep livin' straight from the heart
Though you know that you're gonna to hurt some
The magic will come
If you keep livin' straight from the heart
You will know when to stop and to start
Once you see that no one really wins
Then the magic begins

Bring back the magic
Don't make life so tragic
Bring back the magic
Don't make life so tragic
Bring back the magic
Don't make life so tragic
Bring back the magic

You got to bring back, bring back, bring back the magic Bring back, bring back, bring back the magic
Bring back, bring back, bring back the magic
