Livingston's Gone To Texas

By: Jimmy Buffett

1974

Nothin' is different

Nothin' has changed at all

Livingston's gone to Texas

They say he had a ball

They say he learned to be a cowboy

They say he learned to rope and ride

But I wonder if he ever

Thinks about the tears his woman cried

Now honey, won't you let me

Try and make you smile

You loved him as if he were your husband

Now he'll be gone awhile

Wrote he had to see the country

On starry nights he wished you were there

And so it shows wherever he goes

Deep inside you know he really cares

And nothin' is different

Nothin' has changed at all

Livingston's still in Texas

The snow's about to fall
