You should know by now
That the common thread is taut
I'd like to stay
But you just won't listen
Disappointment I'd take
Though there's no point to it

I blew it

If you could think aloud
It won't mean anything would change
It just goes wrong
And we deny it together
Or a second of thought
Might ache forever

I blew it

I blew it

I blew it

But did you ever go too far
Up against your own persuasions?
Consummate madness, then despise
You should have learnt by now
That the common thread is taut
It's hard to reflect
When your world is sighing
You could never catch up
And there's no use trying

I blew it

I blew it

I blew it

And if the gods are on your side
How come they let you slide?
If all the gods were on your side
They'd probably let you slide

You blew it

You blew it

I blew it

I blew it
I blew it
