"Put the word upon my lips
The lyric of my beating heart and let me sing among the dancing stars

Here tonight you take me high
Much higher than our future dares
I like the way it feels; so good so far

Kiss me till I burn again
Wrap your love around this man
Spreading like a joyous multitude
Standing on the edge of heaven
Damn my soul if I don't fall
Untill I synthesize with you

Never thought I'd feel again
The ecstasy of loves torment
Rouse me from the sleep of self content

But thunder gathers round the mountain
A storm is half a world away
If I could choose, believe me I would stay

Too long apart and love could wither
Falling into disrepair
The thought of losing you too much to bear

So when you look into the night
And all the stars are dancing bright
Look long enough and you will find me there

It's so good
You fall again
It's so good
You fall again"
