It's hard to survive in these troubled times
Lord knows I've seen some
And there've been days when I couldn't say
Where the next dollar's coming from
But when I lay down my head at night I can sleep
Just knowing you love me

It's a real tough town when your luck is down
People can be so cold
And my soul and my dreams are the only things
Left I haven't sold
But there's a better day tomorrow, I can see
Just knowing you love me

Knowing that's never gonna change
That's what keeps me going
Knowing I can just call your name
And your arms will open
That's all the strength I need
Just knowing you love me

In this world, sometimes it feels like
No one can measure up
So you keep doing more and you still fall short
Never quite good enough
But I get a sense of who I could truly be
Just knowing you love me

Knowing that's never gonna change
That's what keeps me going
Knowing I can just call your name
And your arms will open
That's all the strength I need
Just knowing you love me
Yeah, just knowing you love me

Knowing that's never gonna change
(That's what keeps me going)
Knowing I can just call your name
(And your arms will open)

Knowing that's never gonna change

That's what keeps me going
Knowing I can just call your name
And your arms will open
That's all the strength I need, yeah
Just knowing you love me

Ooh baby, just knowing you love me
Just knowing you love me
