All my anger is displaced every time I see your face,
I hate you for nothing and love you for everything...
I understand that you can only be what you want to be,
And then I see you sit there,
Sit there and try to tell me that you don't see any wrong,
In telling me so long, so blatantly.
Arms tight,
Face white,
Everything you wanted,
No crown face down,
Everything you needed.
Your eyes they look to her,
Ill never forget,
And I hope that you'll regret never taking time to learn,
The truth and what you meant,
What you meant to me.
Arms tight,
Face white,
Everything you wanted,
No crown face down,
Everything you needed.
And now Ive reached the end,
This isn't what you wanted,
And now you've brought me to the edge...
How does it feel to finally win?
You could care less now you've defeated me.
