It's a love song written for you my friends.
It's poetry, the motion of your love, not hard to see.
Sweet memories take over me.
Let us not forget today.
Let us not forget to say,

That I will always love you forever,
And I will always be here for you.

It's alluring, the smile of fate that you wear on the face of love.
It's the meaning and not just the destiny in the vow that holds you now.
Sweet melodies take over me.
Let us not forget today.
Let us not forget to say,
That I will always love you forever,
And I will always be here for you.

There will come a time in your life when anything doesn't feel right.
And there will come a time in your life when the blemishes will shine on you.
But just look each other in the eye and promise to always stand side by side and love will carry you through.

That I will always love you forever,
And I will always be here for you.
