As I lay my head on my pillow
My eyes are moving with the spirit of your shadow
And I dream, and I dream, as the music flows
And your tangibility starts to follow
Pictures in my head are real and moving fast
And the beating of my heart is really starting to blast

It's a movie with characters from a perfect cast
Playing fatal attraction like they want it to last

Two cards with different faces and different endings
As traces of a fading love are slowly appearing
(Does it have to end in a sorrow)
It's a living pain that I have got to feel
Even if I dream it happens to be real

It happens to be real
(Does it have to end in a sorrow)

Put it all together in a sorrow
It makes me wonder about what lies ahead
For me tomorrow
And I fear, and I fear, as the music goes
That my destiny will be the same as yours tomorrow
Questions in my head are quickly multiplying
And the beating of my heart is tripling while I'm crying

It's too easy for you much too destroying for me
To think we thought it really didn't matter you see
No matter how we hide I realise it's just doubling
Why don't we stay out of the sun while it's burning
