It's good to see you comin' 'round, it's been a while
Sure is nice to see your smile
Yeah, I'm doing better now, thought about
Callin' you a hundred times

Oh, I had left a couple messages
And I never heard a word, not one

Where were you when I needed somebody?
Where were you when the walls started cavin' in?
I was waiting for someone to save me
When I was coming unglued, where were you

A lot of things got pretty bad, pretty fast
I never thought you'd turn your back
You left me out there all alone hanging on
I just have to deal with that

Oh, I can count on you when everything is easy
But when the going gets tough, I guess not

Where were you when I needed somebody?
Where were you when the walls started cavin' in?
I was waiting for someone to save me
When I was coming unglued, where were you

Ooh, I had to find my own way
Now that I've made it through

Where were you when I needed somebody?
Where were you when the walls started cavin' in?
I was waiting for someone to save me
When I was coming unglued, where were you
Where were you, when I was waiting, oh, where were you
