You say you're contemplating your music making, the value of your life,
The same sound it's a cliché, and it won't change, until you expand your mind

Oh here we go again, must we really know again, the story of your life,
So many possibilities of what you could say,
If only you took the time,

There is another way, consider what you say, there's more to life than getting paid,
You seem so bored with life on tour, but it's a perfect time to think some more,

Oh here we go again, must we really know again, the
story of your life,
So many possibilities of what you could say,
If only you took the time,

If only you took the time,
If only you took the time,
If only you took the time,

'Cos we're proud to be the ones,
Who don't rely on being dumb,
And pretend it's who we really are,
It's not fashionable and young,
Smoking crack or toting guns,
'Cos they'd just see who we really are,

You say you're contemplating your music making, the
value of your life,
The same sound it's a cliché, and it won't change, until
you expand your mind

story of your life,
So many possibilities of what you could say,
If only you took the time,

If only you took the time,

If only you took the time,
If only you took the time,

'Cos we're proud to be the ones,
Who don't rely on being dumb,
And pretend it's who we really are,
It's not fashionable and young,
Smoking crack or toting guns,
'Cos they'd just see who we really are
