9 - Flying Home

Had an old dream last evening I was flying home Things looked so peaceful I'd been gone so long

I saw you waiting, next you wore that smile for me dreamed I was flying home across the sea oh, across the sea

When that dream was over and I raised my head Sunshine, like honey, poured out on the bed
Your hair all across my pillow, darling I love you so Morning's the sweetest time of day I know sweetest time I know

I've been a roadrunner for seven weeks gone night owls, sleepwalkers, up until dawn
New York is bad news but Texas was worse Ain't seen the comfort of my home...

Had that old dream last evening I was flying home Things looked so peaceful I'd been gone too long I saw you waiting and still keep that love for me Dreamed I was coming home, across the sea Oh, across the sea.
