Those lies that crowd around your eyes
Pull your tarnished halo down around your neck
No love for self respect
A confidence so perfect it won't stay the same

Your just a face and I can't read your mind
All the faith that you bottle inside (will soon set free)
No more faith and I can't let it go
All that glitters your life isn't gold

But everyday and every way I've been changin

Those nights all crowd around your fire
Open ended wounds here with salt inside
You lied, with heaven in your eyes
An empathy so worth it it's worthless

We loved your lies caught by your fire
What's in your mind
Do you see the light in desire

But everyday and every way I've been changin
I'm on my way I'm re arranges I've been changin

For you to notice
I've been changin
It's plain to see

I've been changin
Rearrangin
All the changes keep on changin

We loved your lies caught by your fire
What's in your mind
Do you see the light in desire

But everyday and every way I've been changin
I'm on my way I'm re arranges I've been changin

Allow yourself to change!
