Time, they say eases the pain
And now I must keep myself apart
From how things used to be
I know I should go on with my life
And leave the world behind that I have learned to live
I know, I know I have to be strong

Even if these arms should want to embrace you once again

Chorus:

Even if my heart should call out your name out in the rain

Even if I'm all cried out, I'm no longer in pain Tears, are falling like the rain
I'll never fall in love that way ever again
How do I convince my heart again
That things will be okay
I know I have to make it on my own
Since you left me all alone, such a lonely place

I know, I know I've got to go on Even if my heart should call out your name out in the
rain
Even if these arms should want to embrace you once
again
Even if I'm all cried out and no longer in pain
Just tell me why should I believe
I'll never fall in love that way ever again

Promised that you'd stay and never leave Obviously you have gone astray and now you're miles away
I'll go on without you

Even if these arms should want to embrace you once
again
Even if my heart should call out your name out in the
rain
Even if I'm all cried out and no longer in pain
I'll never fall in love again.. no I'll never fall

In love that way ever again
