"Carry your own weight."..."Listen to yourself, now your talking non-sense."

they say, "carry your own baggage."

But when i think, i dream, i see all that there is to see in me.

When I think, I go myself's own way.

In times of despair, though my heart is fair, he will take me from this evil place.

Why carry these burdens on our backs;

when we can't take care of ourselves?

Why carry on?

We will never ever see the true complexcity of it all.

"Carry your own baggage around my town!"

then I say..."Lights out, carry me! Wont you accompany?"
