If he wants to have a little fun with friends let him have it it
If he needs a little money he can spend let him have it But if you find his friends are the kind that hot pants and peroxide hair
And you sense a little hanky panky there let him have it Every man's gotta have a little bit of freedom
And when some see opportunity they're gonna grab it
The only way to make him know he really doesn't need
'em
Is when you know it's love that he's thinking of let him have it [guitar]
If he needs to have a little time to think let him have it While he has himself a little social drink let him have it But when he comes home and later on you find
He tells you there was something on his mind And she left some lipstick on the shirt you ironed let him have it
Every man's gotta have...
Is when you know it's love that he's thinking of let him
have it Yeah when you know it's love that he's thinking of let him have it
When you know it's love that he's thinking of let him
have it
