I wish that I had given everything I had to give I dont wanna be without you your the only reason that I live
I never realized how much I missed you until the day you were gone gone

I should have told you showed you took every chance to stand behind you now you're gone n all I can do is

I realy could have treated you better I could've been a better man but I had a new expressions I didnt realy understand I just couldn't see it coming you started makin other plans other plans

I should have told you showed you took every chance
to stand behind you now you're gone n all I can do is gotta doubleback baby gps love

Noone else I've seen is good enough so I finally reach the point of giving up I dont know what else to do could it be another you so until then I gotta find my way back
