Oh, oh, oh, yeah

I try to make the best of a bad situation
Always gave too much, you never gave in return
Never could convince you to meet your obligations
Guess it took me walking out before you could learn

Now you wonder why I've changed
And if any love remains
You try to make it right with all your hugs and kisses
But you just can't understand
A man needs more from his woman
It's not just money but the honey that is missing, yeah

If you ask if I still love you
Then I'd have to say I do
If you ask why am I leaving
I'd say what am I supposed to do
What's the point in holding on if you keep on doing
wrong
Bottom line, love don't make no sense

Monday to Friday, 9 to 5 while I'm working Sunday to Sunday all day you're on your back
Day-in, day-out I'm putting food on the table
You could at least have tried to clean up your act

Well I've given you that chance
Now I'm making other plans
I'd be better off if I was on my own
So don't you try to change my mind
You're out of luck and out of time
So find some fool who's cool with that because I'm gone

If you ask if I still love you
Then I'd have to say I do
If you ask why am I leaving
I'd say what am I supposed to do
What's the point in holding on if you keep on doing
wrong
'Cause the bottom line is, love don't make no sense

It's a shame, but I can't remember
The last time you held a job
It's up to me to pay the bills
Baby I work damn hard, yeah
You don't think of nothing else but what you need
You don't accept responsibility

If you ask if I still love you
Then I'd have to say I do
If you ask why am I leaving
I'd say what am I supposed to do
What's the point in holding on if you keep on doing
wrong
'Cause the bottom line is, love don't make no sense

If you ask if I still love you
Then I'd have to say I do
If you ask why am I leaving
I'd say what am I supposed to do
What's the point in holding on if you keep on doing
wrong
'Cause the bottom line is yeah, love don't make no sense
Love don't make no sense
