I don't think theres a word
That I've ever heard
That captures the innocence of you
I wouldn't want one, too.
No I wouldn't want one, too.

It would be like smothering a star
Or covering a work of art
Driving so fast that the view falls apart
Like I do
Without you

(Chorus)
But I'm on my way home
And I'm worn to the bone
And when my heart hits an all time low
There's something shining through
I find the light in you
I find the light in you

I don't think there's a sun
That shines brighter than the radiance of you
And I wouldn't want one too.
No I wouldn't want one too.

It would be far forever tamed
A burn without the pain
A heat that never warms the things
Like you do
Like you do

(Chorus)
But I'm on my way home

And I'm worn to the bone
And when my heart hits an all time low
There's something shining through
I find the light in you
I find the light in you

Take my hand and we can beat
This glimmer of a dream out from a corner

Place your fingers into mine
And we can find a world

If we can believe it
We can breathe it
Breathe it into life

But I'm on my way home
And I'm worn to the bone
And when my heart hits an all time low
There's something shining through

(Chorus)
But I'm on my way home
And I'm worn to the bone
And when my heart hits an all time low
There's something shining through

I find the light in you
I find the light in you
(4x)
