She leaves just silence in her path
A short goodbye, some photographs
I took them with me on the plane from Appledoore into LA

This broken heart it doesn't hurt
Still wear these memories on my shirt
From five days of summer in the rain

Now I'm falling towards the ground, it's coming at me
way too fast
But you don't learn to fly, if you're not prepared to crash

She's the sunlight in my eyes
She's a bittersweet goodbye
And I just can't tell you why
I'd let her break my heart again
For those five days of summer in the rain, in the rain

Ten hours is too much time to think
I wrote a song I'd never sing
About a queen who lost her crown
About a boy who almost drowned
These angel city lights are mine
I wont forget but leave behind
Those five days of summer in the rain

Now I'm falling towards the ground, it's coming at me
way too fast

But you don't learn to fly, if you're not prepared to

She's the sunlight in my eyes
She's a bittersweet goodbye
And I just can't tell you why
I'd let her break my heart again
For those five days of summer in the rain

Cause when it rains it's sure to poor in Appledoore
We took the waves, She showed me life, She showed me love, I had it all

And all the time she's not around I want her more
She's so beautiful

She's the sunlight in my eyes
She's a bittersweet goodbye
And I just can't tell you why
I'd let her break my heart again
For those five days of summer in the rain
In the rain
Five days of summer in the rain
In the rain
Five days of summer in the rain
