

Joe Brooks

"I Find The Light In You"

Visit "I Find The Light In You" on MotoLyrics.com

I don't think there's a word, I've ever heard, that captures the innocence of you,
and I wouldn't want one to.
no I wouldn't want one to.
it would be like smothering a star,
or covering a work of art,
or driving so fast that the view falls apart,
like I do, without you.

but I'm on my way home,
and I'm worn to the bone.
and when my heart hits an all time low,
there's something shining through.
I find the light in you.
I find the light in you.

I don't think there's a sun, that's ever shone, brighter than the radiance of you.
and I wouldn't want one to.
no I wouldn't want one to.
it would be a fire forever tamed,
a burn without the pain,
a heat that never warms the veins.
like you do. like you do.

but I'm on my way home,
and I'm worn to the bone.
and when my heart hits an all time low,
there's something shining through.
I find the light in you.

take my hand and we can beat,
this glimmer of a dream out from the corner.
bleed your fingers into mine and we can find a world,
if we believe it we can breath it, breath it into life.

and I'm on my way home.
and worn to the bone.
when my heart hits an all time low,
there's something shining through.

but I'm on my way home,
and I'm worn to the bone,
and when my heart hits an all time low,
there's something shining through.
I find the light in you.
I find the light in you.
I find the light in you.
I find the light in you.
I find the light in you.
I find the light in you.

Visit Joe Brooks page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.