[Verse 1: Joe Budden]

Check it,
More questions, more answers
More ci smoke and more cancer More arguing, more resistance Its seems like the closer we get, its more distance More angles, a million different looks Was on the same page, just in different books theres so much i want to say but i got no ground cause we ain't break up, more like broke down now that's pain and torture add that with restraining orders then add the soul of my slain daughter none of this is how we planned it to be one big insanity plea shit could never end amicably I miss you trying you probably think don't think I try too when you stubborn and prideful not much is insightful but God was trying to show me something He aint think that I knew sometimes shit that doesn't breathe can die too

[Hook: Emanny]

Were we just dreamerz?
Waiting for our shot to shoot to the moon
Were we just dreamerz?
Spending our lives trying to see this thing through Waiting to fly away
Waiting to fly away
Waiting to fly away
waiting to fly away

How we go from thoughts of marriage Thoughts of me copping carrots Talks of what we'd name her while shopping for a carriage
But when the dream stopped, who knew you'd see me like a savage
That you dreamt of vacations, but only woke up with baggage

All you ever did was love me, and look at where it got you

And when you wanted more, all I did was say I'm not
you

I'm selfish not selfless, and I say that with love so in essence you're asking for what I'm incapable of so now I find I'm going over choices I ain't even made yet

were we clouded by good times of great sex? running fast towards an unknown fate that altered when I introduced you to my unknown traits in your dreams, seems you had me pegged as another man

but in mine, only you would understand in our minds we were perfect we witnessed our dream get murdered now reality is on trial and we both awaiting the verdict

[Bridge 1: Joe Budden]

But you'll always be close to me though you said this ain't how it's supposed to be what we had was so real but you said i don't care never thought this day would come you said you gave your all and was left with none but we can both be spared but you don't think thats fair, thats fair

[Hook]

you can't see how you ever began to like a liar you lost track of all the little things that I admired but when the peace left, I knew we might retire thinking man, I live upstairs, I'm something like somaya got memories, but at what point are they lost you say we could work through it, at what point is it forced?

we shoulda never rushed cause it's like now we at a point where you won't never trust and for me I cant believe thats all we ever was the high's gone, need a better buzz Cause we sleep in the same bed, but we never touch my solution to every beef is to revisit though we'll have the same emotions we won't be so livid

won't be so vivid i think your girl secretly applauded our drama we don't need those critics we owe it to go over our foundation with a keen eye sad part to say you never have the same dream twice

[Bridge 2: Emanny]
we let love and all its possibility take us from reality made it hard to see that we were bound together just to cover up the pain im wishing the skies were rain and wipe all my thoughts away cause im tired of dreaming
