The full moon's glowing blood red in the sky
It hangs like fire on this winter's night
I sit on feelings that hang in suspense
Nothing in my life makes sense

A question mark hangs with the stars up above
As I'm driving home to the one that I love
Sometimes I can't see the trees from the wood
Loving you tonight feels good
Loving you tonight feels good

Loving you tonight
Loving you tonight

The moonlight changes from red into white
It sits on treetops asleep for the night
I see the signpost, the road slowly bends
Nothing in my life makes sense

A flashing tail light speeds across the sky
My head's cooking trouble as thoughts seem to fry
The last temptation was misunderstood
Loving you tonight feels good
Loving you tonight feels good

Loving you tonight
Loving you tonight

I'm faced with the ultimate truth
What if I see that things don't improve?
I know they could
'Coz loving you tonight feels good
Loving you tonight feels good

The sun is rising there's mist all around
She sleeps beside me and I feel so proud
I am in heaven with her by my side
This is how love feels tonight

Loving you tonight
Loving you tonight
Just loving you tonight

I've been loving you tonight
