

Joe Lean And The Jing Jang Jong "Brooklyn"

Visit "Brooklyn" on MotoLyrics.com

You know the light falls in Brooklyn, just like I fell for you.
And when the sun is crashing out in the sky what's coming up is the moon
And with the moon comes the tide and with tide comes the waves
The waves crashing down on me
The waves of your love crashing down on me

You know the light falls in Tokyo just like every time I'm on my own.
Cos when you leave me sitting there by myself girl
The only company is the shadow, I don't like it
'Cos with the moon comes the tide and with tide the comes the waves
The waves crashing down on me the waves of your love crashing down on me.

You know the light falls in Versailles just like every time you catch my eyes.
You see I think that you got this
Magical power girl where your eyes control the sky
It's true girl.
Cos with the moon comes the tide and with the Tide comes the waves,
The waves crashing down on me,
The waves of your love crashing down on me.

I understand now is not the right time to be holding your hand
But I'm just a man
You can test me, to try me, see how long I can stand
Cos I'm staying right here and you're holding my heart
And I'm holding yours
Lord knows that I'm trying; I've got to stop myself from crying
'Cos with the moon comes the tide and with tide the comes the waves
The waves crashing down on me,
The waves of you're love crashing down on me

