I can feel it deep inside of me
Something primal the beginnings of a scream
About to let go
I can hear it bouncing in my head
Keeps repeating every thought I've ever had Like an echo

If you feel like I feel
And need to come in from the cold
So who cares if it's real
Just pretend there's sand between your toes

Just a little bit of fahrenheit
Just a little bit of heat tonight
As the mercury is rising
Temperature is climbing
I know what's on your mind
Just a little bit of fahrenheit
Just a breath away from paradise
But it's not too hot for dancing
Or for taking chances
So don't apologize

Can you see the lightning in the air
All the faces and electric atmosphere
They wana let go

Cause they feel like I feel
And need to come in from the cold
And so who cares if it's real
Just pretend there's sand between your toes
Just a little bit of fahrenheit
Just a little bit of heat tonight
As the mercury is rising
Temperature is climbing
I know what's on your mind
Just a little bit of fahrenheit
Just a breath away from paradise
But it's not too hot for dancing
Or for taking chances
So don't apologize

For the urge for the surge
Of the power of inside
Being blinded sometimes
By the lights it's all right
It's somewhere to go
Where your heart wants to be
Something you need when you've got to be free

Just a little bit of fahrenheit
Just a little bit of heat tonight
As the mercury is rising
Temperature is climbing
I know what's on your mind
Just a little bit of fahrenheit
Just a breath away from paradise
But it's not too hot for dancing
Or for taking chances
So don't apologize
