No one knows how much time has passed
That I've returned from space at last
A lot of wounds that hurt and bleed
The scars of war you'll never see

My brand new ship is stellar bound
To search out a place that I've never found
Where I go only time will tell
There's a lot of space between heaven and hell

A million miles away
I don't care what they say
I'll be with you, my love
So from my side don't stray

A million miles away
I don't care what they say
I'll be with you, my love
So from my side don't stray

My brand new ship is stellar bound
To search out a place that I've never found
Where I go only time will tell
There's a lot of space between heaven and hell

A million miles away
I don't care what they say
I'll be with you, my love
So from my side don't stray

A million miles away
I don't care what they say
I'll be with you, my love
So from my side don't stray

A million miles away
I don't care what they say
I'll be with you, my love
So from my side don't stray
No doubt
