Close, in contact
With my reflection
I hate to be alone.

I don't deny it, I can't hide it.
I'm going nowhere.

Spirit's a reject
I've put you on a shelf
My heart's as cold as a stone
I can't hide it
Or be around it
I'm going nowhere.

I keep my distance
At a jokes length
I can't resist avoiding your eyes.
You look into me
See my true self.
Going nowhere

I blam my sunshine, for all my rain.
It's no use, I'm unborn.
I want to open
And feel the love.
But I'm going nowhere.

I keep my distance, at a jokes length
I can't resist avoiding your eyes.
You look into me,
See my true self.
And I'm going nowhere.
