Secrets always travel farther than they should

And loose translations

Float around the neighbourhood

And rumours don't do anyone a bit of good

They just get started, funny you never know

The first-amendment vigilante attitude

The gospel truth according to the book of

Someone said so

The Front-Line grapevine jury's in a nasty mood

You might be guilty, honey you'll never know

Did you hear about the gossip-column

Senate subcommittee probe

The allegations put the neck around your rope

The nominations droolin' on the envelope

A likely story, funny you'll never know

You never know
