hurry on down to our butterscotch castle we want to show you the place where it all began there's a big old dog in the front yard and an old grey cat on the back porch and in between the walls there are peace and harmony come on along to our butterscotch castle

we want to show you the place where it all began there's a morning sun in the kitchen and there's always a bird when you listen and underneath the roof there are joy and love to share

oh, everybody needs a home where all the vibrations are flowing in a positive way what a great day, the day we discovered the castle sittin' on it's own little hill and it seemed to say,
"So, You finally found the way!"

livin' is sweeter than butterscotch pudding with honey bright days and beautiful licorice nights and i know that we'll always live here even if we leave it behind memories of lovin' and laughter will shine in our minds

sittin' on it's own little hill and it seemed to say,
"So, You finally found the way!"

we want to show you the place it began
we want to show you the place it began

we want to show you the place it began
we want to show you the place it began
