On the beach out by the sea
That's where she said she'd wait for me
Something came from way out deep
And took her back to where it sleeps

I don't care about saving the world
I just gotta find that one little girl
Something took her away from me
On the beach out by the sea, she was waiting for me

It came out of the deep dark sea
Infected by some radioactivity
It grabbed my baby with a great big smile

They saw it head in the direction of three mile isle

Something like this, could it really exist
I just can't believe that it's true
One thing I know, I ain't letting her go
Though people say I might have

I don't care about saving the world
I just gotta find that one little girl
Something took her away from me
On the beach out by the sea, she was waiting for me
