

John Berry

"Every Time My Heart Calls Your Name"

Visit "Every Time My Heart Calls Your Name" on MotoLyrics.com

Thought that I could leave it all behind me
Thought that I could make a brand new start
If I had nothin' to remind me
It wouldn't be so hard

But this voice inside says
"It ain't over yet"
No matter what I do
I just can't forget

Every time my heart calls your name
Your memory draws me in
Just like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm back in your arms again
And for a while it feels like nothin's changed
Every time my heart calls your name

Starting from the very first I love you
You were all I thought about
I been tryin' hard to let go of you
Since the moment you walked out

Maybe you would never cross my mind
If I could find a way
To leave my heart behind

Every time my heart calls your name
Your memory draws me in
Just like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm back in your arms again
And for a while it feels like nothin's changed
Every time my heart calls your name

Every time my heart calls your name
Your memory draws me in
Just like a moth drawn to a flame
I'm back in your arms again
And for a while it feels like nothin's changed
Every time my heart calls your name
Every time my heart calls your name

