A moments calm
Hands together palm to palm
The damage is done
Yet still the clouds evade the sun

Waves crash land
Erasing our names from the sand
Deep and blue
I believe in you

If someday
The embers of your dreams turn grey
And with your dreams
All the ashes blow away

Know for sure
No-one could have loved you more
Deep and blue
I believe in you

Right now these four walls alive
Surround me and they see the truth
When the proof's inside
There is nowhere left to hide

I'll be there
Floating with your dreams in the air
And you know it's true
I believe in you
When my journey is through
I'll still believe in you
Deep and blue
