I've got a blue telescope
I'm looking at the world tonight
Through a blue telescope
I wish I may, wish I might

Not see what I see
Sheet metal on sheets of ice
Looking through this blue telescope
Down a moonstruck road tonight

Blue breath on my windshield
I came to a frozen place
She shivered when I said goodbye
I wish I didn't have to face

Her in that rear view mirror
Though she lives in the heart of me
Looking through this blue telescope
I guess she'll always be a star to me

The heaven's vast and wide
Wait to escort the bride
She lifts her wedding veil
Her breath a lonesome vapor trail

I got this blue telescope
I'm looking for her tonight
Through a blue telescope
Tell me why must the blue angels fight?

Taking one last shot at heaven
While they slip stream through paradise
Looking through this blue telescope
Down a moonstruck road tonight
I'm looking through this blue telescope
Down a moonstruck road tonight

I've got a blue telescope
Blue telescope
