Close your eyes, can you see me
Rollin' down the Rocky Mountains?
Movin' like the wind that sweeps the Kansas plains
I know you're with me as I make my way through Oklahoma
Pass the barns and weather vanes
There are motels, cafes, fields and billboard signs
A thousand miles of highway between your heart and mine

There will finally come a moment
When one man and one woman
Get everything that they've been waiting for
I'll take you in my arms again
Feel your skin against my skin
Let the sheet fall slowly to the floor
'Til nothing comes between us anymore

In my soul I can feel you
As I cross the Mississippi
You're the river flowin' in me
Comin' home, I count each heartbeat
Till the moment we're together
And the distance can't be measured
That's all that keeps me goin' when I'm gone

There will finally come a moment
When one man and one woman
Get everything that they've been waiting for
I'll take you in my arms again
Feel your skin against my skin
Let the sheet fall slowly to the floor
'Til nothing comes between us anymore
Anymore

There will finally come a moment
When one man and one woman
Get everything that they've been waiting for
I'll take you in my arms again
Feel your skin against my skin
Let the sheet fall slowly to the floor
'Til nothing comes between us anymore

There will finally come a moment
When one man and one woman
Get everything, everything, everything they've been waiting for
I'll take you in my arms again
Feel your skin against my skin
Let the sheet fall slowly to the floor
'Til nothing comes between us anymore

There will finally come a moment
When one man and one woman
Get everything that they've been waiting for
I'll take you in my arms again
Feel your skin against my skin
